Queensland's distinctive spirit is unable to be replicated, thanks in part to a lush coastline overflowing with flora and fauna, its welcoming people, bountiful produce and, for the truly unique adventures that await. One such adventure is one of the world's great rail journeys, Kuranda Scenic Railway.

Step aboard vintage-refurbished carriages, some of which are 100 years old, and enjoy the communal atmosphere of Heritage Class, where you'll delight in capturing photos of the train as it curves its way across one of the 55 mountain-hugging bridges. Or, upgrade to Gold Class and enjoy comfortable individual lounge-style tub chairs, while your dedicated onboard attendant brings you delicious appetisers and drinks, made from items sourced or produced in the surrounding regions. As you reach dizzying heights, at times reaching 328m above sea level, inhale the fresh fragrance of the World Heritage-listed rainforest – the oldest in the world – before passing through one of the 15 hand carved tunnels and slowing, as we reach the lush and rugged, Stoney Creek Falls. Join us, as we take a 10 minute pause at the spectacular Barron Falls Station viewing platform for photos – an experience to remember any time of year, but particularly impressive during the region's wet season, when the falls are overflowing and there's a hint of magic in the air. However you choose to travel with us or when, any visit to Cairns is not complete without stepping aboard Kuranda Scenic Railway for an unforgettable and nostalgic journey into our pioneering past.

Queensland's distinctive spirit is unable to be replicated, thanks in part to a lush coastline overflowing with flora and fauna, its welcoming people, bountiful produce and, for the truly unique adventures that await. One such adventure is one of the world's great rail journeys, aboard Kuranda Scenic Railway.

Constructed between 1882 and 1891, primarily with rudimentary tools and dynamite, Kuranda Scenic Railway was the answer to the ongoing impacts of a particularly devastating wet season. The railway was designed to connect Cairns with Kuranda, largely for the provision of supplies and, after launching on 15 June 1891, was opened to the public 10 days later. So began countless journeys as the region's first tourist train, connecting locals and visitors alike. Wonder at the engineering feat the railway has come to be over 125 years later, testament to the hard work and sacrifices made by the men that brought it to life.

Step aboard vintage-refurbished carriages – some of which are 100 years old – and enjoy the communal atmosphere and historically accurate bench seating of Heritage Class, where you'll delight in capturing the train as it curves its way across one of the 55 mountain-hugging bridges. Or, upgrade to Gold Class and settle into individual lounge-style tub chairs, while your dedicated onboard attendant brings you delicious appetisers and drinks, made from items sourced or produced in the surrounding regions.

As you reach dizzying heights, at times reaching 328m above sea level, inhale the fresh and heady fragrance of the World Heritage-listed rainforest – the oldest in the world – before passing through one of the 15 hand hewn tunnels and slowing, as you reach the lush and rugged, Stoney Creek Falls. Join us, as we take a 10 minute pause at the spectacular Barron Falls Station viewing platform for photos – an experience to remember any time of year, but particularly impressive during the region's wet season, when the falls are overflowing and there is a hint of magic in the air. Disembark and enjoy the wares of the locals in Kuranda, the village in the rainforest, or wander off on one of the walking trails nearby for a closer look at nature.

However you choose to travel with us or when, any visit to Cairns is not complete without stepping aboard Kuranda Scenic Railway for an unforgettable and nostalgic journey into our pioneering past.
